Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 17 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry and bright with sunny spells.

Today:
A largely dry day across the region with drizzle and light showers possible over the northern areas. Otherwise most places will have plenty of sunny spells. Feeling mild with light winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry with clear spells in the evening for many areas. Cloud developing in the north and the east and spreading across the region overnight. Light winds and feeling chilly. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Thursday:
Mostly dry and cloudy for Thursday morning with sunny spells to follow. Remaining mild with winds increasing slightly. Some rain possible overnight. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
After a damp start, drier and brighter conditions follow on Friday. The weekend staying generally dry and cloudy with light rain or drizzle. Pleasant in any sunshine, otherwise rather cool.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.